Barrow Escape. Miss French Cooper, daughter of Richard

Cooper, esq , of this county, had a narrow escape from drowning last Saturday. She left her home in the morning with her cousin, Taylor Cooper, of Stafford, ter "Oakwood," tord, ed Great Run at Minter's Mill with safety, and an hour later attempted the ford several miles up the stream near Mr. Richard Lake's on Waterloo pike where the run usually makes a letter S in its crossings. The run had, however, burst its banks and presented one unsport to the right, to act as a break water. Immediately after reaching the bed of the run. Having appointed me their agent, but saddle skirt deep, the momentum of the waters swept the feet from both horses, and partially immersed the riders. An instant more and riders and horses were stot by the resistless flood towards the pole which lately supported a water gate that was then only a few inches above the water level. To clutch the pole and avoid being unseated by it was the inspiration of a moment full of peril. Both feb14-1m riders were successful in this, but neither was able to maintain a hold. Miss Cooper. with admirable selfpossession, turned her fac, upward and maintained the position of one affiat, clutching on right and left at eluding bushes for anchorage. When she had descended the streem more than current rates.

Losses settled promptly and liberally. feb7 a hundred yards she succeeded in grasping the branch of a tree, to which she clang until help, secured through timely notice given by Mr. Herrall, the old mail carrier, resched the scene from Mr. Lake's house, some 150 yards distant. Before help came her peril was made greater by the unaided efforts of her escort to extricate ber, and nothing but p'uck and that presence of mind which bade her hold her breath when sinking and inflate her lungs on rising maintained life. When Joob Cropp and Edward Lake arrived, followed soon after by the two Misas Lake, Miss Cooper was still grasping the brauch that grew on the farther stipped from her cailled hand. The n x . to swim to her proved futile. The three men. her as possible. When in position they exhaust horted her to let loose and float to them, but she could not be importuned. She sank and rising heard them entrest her to let go. She would not and presently sank again Anxiety was on tenter-hooks. An instant more and heavy substance brushed the person of Mr. Cropp. Plunging for it, he se'z d Miss C by the hair and lifted her head above the waters. At last she was rescued, after being in the wate 20 minutes. In a moment more she was borne to the shore by the three men, there plied with wine by the ladies, and then taken to the house of Mr Lake where the forethought of the good wife had provided fire, clothing, blankets and warmed irons. These were used as good judgment directed, and before Dr. Chilton arrived (an hour after the occurrence), Miss Cooper was almost herself again — Warrenton Index. EXTENSION OF THE SHENANDOAH VALLEY RAILROAD, -According to the Philadephia Inquirer of Friday, the preliminary work for the construction of a connection between the Shenandoah Valley Railroad and the recently purchased Adaptic, Mississippi and Obio Railroad has been put in shape, and that of completing the Valley Road to its southern termious is boing rapid'y pushed forward. It is understood that the company will at orce build a new road of its own by which to reac Harrisburg from Hagerstowo, Md., the present northern terminus of the road. The com Hagerstown via the Cumberland Valley Railread, which is controlled by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. 'The object of the Valley Company,' adds the Lequirer, "to building
